UNDERGRADUATES.

U, H, denotes University Hall.

The names, which are printed at the end of each class, after the short line as a mark of distinction, denote students who are taking but a part of the complete academical course, or who intend to join the class, with which they recite, at some future period.

The name of one medical student will be found in the Junior class, with which he is studying Greek, because he expects to continue in this study during the remainder of the session.

Four students, whose names are in the catalogue, are absent, though still members of the University.

UNDERGRADUATES.

U, H, denotes University Hall.
The names, which are printed at the end of each class after the short line as a mark of distinction, denote students who are taking but a part of the Academical course, or who intend to join the class, with which they recite, at some future period.
The names of three students in the Law Class, and of one in the Medical, appear also among the Seniors, because they are pursuing the studies of both departments.
Four students are absent, and one is dead.

Of the whole number 145 from abroad, 7 are in the Law Class, 33 in the Academical Classes, and 105 in the Medical Class.

In consequence of the pleasing fact, that schools to fit students for College have multiplied both in our vicinity, and at a distance, the number in our Preparatory Department is diminished, while it is increased in all the other branches of the institution, which has been extending its prosperity from the year 1813. On our last Catalogue, the total was 386, of which 121 were in the four classes of undergraduates, 44 in the Law Class, and 170 in the Medical. The University and the Commonwealth must be gratified with this statement of facts, and with the assurance of the good which is thus done to the great cause of education in the West.
